

Kiemia

All about me...

Freelance graphic designer based in Kent with over 13 years of agency, in-house and freelance experience. A strong eye for detail, executing this with an ability to deliver creative results from the initial pitch through to the end stage. Passionate about design and dedicated to what I do, I am hard-working in everything I put my mind to and a reliable team player.

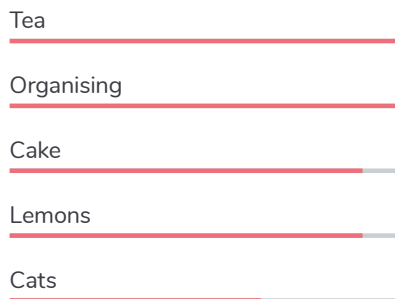

Experience

Advertising / Book Cover Design
Brand Guidelines / Brand Identity
Digital Design / ePublications
Exhibitions / Print Production

Tools

Interests

Cut a long story short...

2020 / Freelance Graphic Designer

After years in the studio, you name it, I've designed it! My experience has led me to work on a number of design projects, from advertising to book covers, brand guidelines, brand identity, digital design, ePublications, exhibitions and all sorts of print production.

2015 – 2020 / Designer / Cuttsy+Cuttsy

Cuttsy+Cuttsy, a healthcare communications agency, allowed me to grasp a vital understanding of Pharma. Working alongside Account Managers, Copywriters, Medical Writers and Strategists, our collaboration pushed the boundaries within the industry.

2011 – 2015 / Designer / LexisNexis

As part of the in-house design team at LexisNexis, I designed and delivered marketing collateral for printed and online products including direct mail campaigns, brochures, magazines, newsletters, interactive PDFs, postcards, reports, HTML emails and web banners.

2010 – 2011 / Designer / Freelance

2009 – 2010 / Travelled the world

2008 – 2009 / Junior Designer / 2M Creative

My first 'proper' design job, I owe my knowledge, understanding and passion for design to 2M Creative. They gave me my first chance at being a graphic designer when I was (nearly) fresh out of university. They threw me in at the deep end and I soon learnt how to swim.

2007 – 2008 / Work Experience / Junior Designer

2005 – 2007 / First Class FDA in Graphic Media / UCA

2003 – 2005 / A Levels / West Kent College